The property located at 501 Chestnut Street, in Hagerstown, Washington County, MD. is located outside of the seven defined National Register eligible historic districts. The building is not considered eligible for individual listing.

Based upon the photograph provided as part of the project, the 1-1/2-story frame bungalow-type house was constructed in the first quarter of the 20th century. The dwelling, characterized by its bungalow form and features including the encompassing roof, the integrated front porch supported by tapered wood piers, and the shed roof dormer, is typical of the domestic architecture of the period. As a representative example of its type/form, the building lacks the architectural distinctiveness necessary to qualify it for individual listing on the National Register under Criterion C. The property is not known to have any associations with persons or events significant to our past and is thus not eligible under Criteria A or B.

Documentation on the property/district is presented in: Review and Compliance Files
